PR. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX-1, DELHI v. CVENT INDIA PVT. LTD.

ITA 495/2025

No neutral citation stated in source | 2026-05-12

Revenue appeal dismissed on its own submission of low tax effect under CBDT circulars.

High Court of Delhi | Division Bench | Dinesh Mehta | Vinod Kumar

Assessment years: Not specified in source

01 FACTS OF THE CASE

In ITA 495/2025, Revenue's Senior Standing Counsel stated that the tax effect fell below the limits in CBDT Circular 5/2024 dated 15 March 2024 read with Circular 9/2024 dated 17 September 2024. The order supplies no assessment year, tax-effect figure or description of the underlying addition.

05 EXPERT COMMENTS

AKHB EXPERT COMMENTS — editorial analysis, distinct from the Court's findings.

The source establishes a litigation-limit disposal — Revenue itself supplied the reason for ending the appeal. The Court's dismissal therefore documents the application of the cited monetary-limit policy to this appeal; it does not explain or resolve the underlying tax controversy. The absence of a merits discussion is particularly important when citing this order alongside a substantive judgment.

Do not manufacture the missing tax computation — Neither the numerical limit nor the actual tax effect is reproduced. The source supports the recorded conclusion that this appeal fell below the cited limits, not a calculation that can be carried into another taxpayer's case. No assessment year or section 148 issue can be inferred from the caption or source filename.

The operative disposal is complete on its own terms — The appeal was dismissed without an express remand or revival clause. That is the procedural result to record. It does not establish current circular policy or determine whether a different appeal falls within an exception; those matters were not examined in this short order.
